

Press coverage from VLV Autumn Conference which took place on 27 November 2013

Tony Hall says BBC provides value for money, outlines drama commitments

This week John Plunkett reports from the Voice of the Listener and Viewer (VLV) conference in London, where the campaign group celebrates its 30th year.

BBC must be 'less British' about telling the public that it is worth the licence fee, says Lord Hall

And now for yet another public service announcement: New BBC chief Tony Hall wants corporation to use its channels more aggressively to argue for £145.50 licence fee

Hall: BBC should promote itself more

Lord Hall paves way for shake-up of Match of the Day after praising Gary Neville's impact since joining Sky

Comment also in the Guardian, Broadcast Now, Bristol Wired, and on BBC Online and Sir Peter Bazalgette's comments. also in the Guardian.